Luke 21:34-36—“But take heed to yourselves, lest your souls be weighed down with self-indulgence, and drunkenness, or the anxieties of this life, and that day come on you suddenly, like a falling trap; for it will come on all dwellers on the face of the whole earth. But beware of slumbering; and every moment pray that you may be fully strengthened to escape from all these coming evils, and to take you stand in the presence of the Son of Man” (Weymouth New Testament).

Dr. Anthony Fauci left government in December, but his media tour is going strong, albeit with a different tone and tenor. The fawning adulation and questions about his exercise regimes and bobbleheads have been replaced by skepticism and outright doubt from outlets who never dared question the all-knowing man once dubbed “America’s doctor” by the New Yorker.

For all his faults, Fauci is no fool. One does not spend 54 years ensconced in the federal government without learning how to play politics.

Three years removed from the worst of the Covid pandemic, the longtime director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases knows the policy decisions guided by his medical recommendations are looking worse by the day.

Herein lies his problem. When his ideas were in vogue, Fauci had no problem claiming responsibility. Now that the ugly consequences are coming due, he is eager to wash his hands.

School lockdowns

In the face of plummeting math and reading scores between 2020 and 2022, Fauci is especially quick to deny his role in the school shutdowns. Last fall, Fauci raised eyebrows for denying that school lockdowns, “forever irreparably damaged anyone.”

Yet as late as September 2020, Fauci recommended that schools only open back up once the virus is “under control.” Earlier in the year, he had chastised Florida Governor Ron DeSantis, warning that premature re-opening would “likely” lead to widespread student infection.

Experimental covid vaccines

Then came the vaccines. From the outset, Fauci’s entire Covid mitigation strategy was based on an experimental vaccine rushed to market under the branding “warp speed.”

There had never been an mRNA-approved vaccine before, and now it was being pushed non-stop from the White House podium with the full support of the pharmaceutical industry.

It was always highly illogical to deploy a static vaccine toward a mutagenic and constantly changing coronavirus. Then came the checks the vaccines couldn't write. Fauci told us they would stop transmission. He implored us to "follow the science."

Today, the science is clear: the Covid vaccine does not prevent transmission or contagion of the virus. Yet even now, Fauci continues to lament that "only 68 percent of the country is vaccinated" and says "we do really poorly" compared to the rest of the world.

European countries like Switzerland, normally held up by American academics as worthy of emulation, are advising their citizens against the vaccine. There's a reason that known vaccine expert Robert Kennedy Jr. is already earning the support of nearly one in five Democrat voters.

Silencing free expression and thought

In my private practice, I have treated more than 500 patients suffering injuries from the vaccine. I have seen the unintended – but brutal – harm they have often caused up close and personal. Yet to raise any of these issues is to risk one's livelihood. That is Fauci's greatest stain on our country.

Fauci fostered an environment where doctors who deviated from the preferred party line were persecuted and even criminalized for offering a different point of view. Silencing free expression and thought is the antithesis of America, and dangerous for science, innovation, and medicine.

Fauci blamed "misinformation and disinformation" for "really hurting so many things, including people's trust in science." Yet on his watch, laws were passed that empowered government agencies to strip doctors of their medical licenses for questioning the wisdom of vaccines.

These efforts left a profound lasting impact on medicine and the patient-doctor relationship. Suddenly physicians were forced to choose between offering their best advice or losing their ability to practice medicine.

Hubris and power

Anthony Fauci's legacy is one of narcissism and power. The glorification of his massive ego trumped any scientific or medical data. His policies were giveaways to pharmaceutical industry, which helped burnish his image and crush dissent. He saw his opportunity for the spotlight and seized it.

Now, rather than admit mistakes, Fauci is intent on revising history. Unfortunately for his legacy, we're all living with the consequences of his hubris, and they are impossible to overlook.

In complex times, many of us experience difficult feelings like fear, sadness and anger. It's important that we're tuned in to our feelings, but also that we know how to express them effectively so we can calm down.

Pay attention to what you feel

Pay attention to what you feel and how it makes you behave. Make sure to be in places that you find safe and calming, and be with family or friends.

Incorporate into your day, and especially towards night, relaxing and fun activities that help you get away from the situation a little.

Try to name your emotion and rate it on a scale (angry at a level of seven out of 10, worry eight out of 10); if it's too powerful, adopt one of these methods of relaxation.

If you feel too much anger or stress, try to cool down the emotion. Drink a glass of water, wash your face, take a shower or bath, breathe cold air from the freezer, or even put an ice cube in your mouth.

How to ease anxiety

If you're too anxious, try to combine actions that will lead you to greater relaxation.

- To relax your breathing: Take deep breaths calmly and make sure to exhale slowly. Breathe in like you're smelling a flower, exhale like you're blowing out a candle or blowing up a balloon.
- In order to relax the muscles, contract each muscle one by one and then let go. We can't immediately make the muscles relax. But if we contract and release the muscles, they'll relax – and some tension we feel will go away.
- To calm down, keep your hands busy with a sponge ball, squeeze a soft toy, doodle or express your feelings in a journal.
- Do something physical during the day, which will help reduce feelings of stress, anxiety and anger.
- Translate your emotion into words, and be sure to use balanced and moderate speech; avoid extreme or violent rhetoric.
- Talk to the people close to you, share your feelings with them and give them space to express their feelings, even if they differ from yours. The goal is not to convince, but to share and support.

- In the face of emotional load and anger, try to think what you would advise a family member or good friend to do if they were in a similar situation.

Remember, every feeling of stress, anxiety and server worry makes it difficult for us and causes us to feel a lack of control. To mitigate this, try to influence the areas of life you can control.

Stick to the things you can control even while helping yourself and those around you. The more one works to create calmness, the more serene one will be.

Isaiah 55:6-11—“Seek you the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy on him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. ‘For My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways My ways,’ says the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall My word by that goes forth from My mouth; it shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.”
