Luke 21:34-36—“But take heed to yourselves, lest your souls be weighed down with self-indulgence, and drunkenness, or the anxieties of this life, and that day come on you suddenly, like a falling trap; for it will come on all dwellers on the face of the whole earth. But beware of slumbering; and every moment pray that you may be fully strengthened to escape from all these coming evils, and to take you stand in the presence of the Son of Man” (Weymouth New Testament).

“Eye on the World” comment: The following headlines involve articles that are considered international. The articles were not posted, but the headlines give the essence of the story.

- “Right when we achieve racial equality, we obsess over systemic racism. Right when we legalize gay marriage, we obsess over sexual identity. Right after we avoid a supposedly looming ice age in the 70s, we obsess over global warming. When we’re lost, we’re always on the hunt for a cause.”
 - “It’s because, when you run out of human rights and civil rights to stand for, you have to find new ones, instead – because you don’t have God [and] you don’t have country.”

An article by Jacob Henry titled “An Episcopalian Bishop Warns His Diocese Against Holding Christian Passover Seders” was posted at jpost.com on April 6, 2023. Following is the article.

For years, a growing number of Jews have issued the same public request ahead of Passover:

Christians, please don't hold your own seders glorifying Jesus.

Now, some Christian clergy are passing that same message onto their followers. Last week, the Episcopal bishop of Missouri, the Rev. Deon K. Johnson, posted an open letter to his diocese saying that Christian seders are "banned" because they advance supersessionism, or the belief that Christians have superseded, or replaced, Jews as God's chosen people.

In his letter, Johnson explicitly forbade his diocese from "hosting, holding or celebrating Christian seders."

"In our own time, the proliferation of Christian Seders on Maundy Thursday has taken root in parts of Christianity," Johnson wrote, referring to the Thursday before Easter (which falls this year on April 6) and commemorates Jesus' Last Supper.

"Christians celebrating their own Haggadah outside of Jewish practice is deeply problematic and is supersessionism in its theological view. Christian communities hosting Seders is additionally problematic because it contributes to the objectification of our Jewish neighbors."

Christian seders are linked with the popular notion that the Last Supper was itself a seder, a belief that scholars have disputed because the seder as we know it was developed decades after Jesus' death.

"To put it bluntly, Jesus certainly celebrated Passover, but neither he nor his disciples ever attended a Seder, any more than they drove a car or used a cell phone," wrote Rabbi Yehiel Poupko and David Sandmel in Christianity Today in 2017.

Last year, Bishop Jennifer Reddall of the Episcopal Diocese of Arizona echoed that idea when she also warned against holding Christian seders.

"Jesus did not eat matzah ball soup or gefilte fish, sing Dayenu, or say 'next year in Jerusalem,'" Reddall said. "For Jesus, the seder would have consisted of a lamb sacrificed in the Temple and eaten in Jerusalem, not a brisket cooked in Nashville."

Photos of Christian seders on social media show elements that would be out of place at a traditional Jewish seder, such as bread or Christian symbols such as the cross. Such seders are also held by Messianic Jews – a movement that believes in the divinity of Jesus, often has ties with explicitly Christian organizations and is roundly considered non-Jewish by actual Jewish groups.

Those posts have sparked backlash from Jews who describe them as an affront.

In 2020, Rabbi Danya Ruttenberg tweeted, "Jesus didn't have a seder, Christianity is not Judaism, please respect us and our traditions."

And in a viral Facebook post written last year, Talia Liben Yamush wrote that Christians should feel welcome to attend seders hosted by Jews, but that hosting a Christian seder “is an awful thing to do.”

“Please don’t do it,” Yarmush wrote. “You have your own holidays. You have rich and beautiful traditions. I promise to respect them. Please reciprocate.”

Isaiah 55:6-11—“Seek you the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy on him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. ‘For My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways My ways,’ says the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall My word by that goes forth from My mouth; it shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.”
