But beware of slumbering; and every moment pray that you may be fully strengthened to escape from all these coming evils, and to take you stand in the presence of the Son of Man” (Weymouth New Testament).

An article by J.A. Frascino titled “Is Comrade Karl [Marx] Really at the Root of All Our Socio/Economic/Political Rot?” was posted at americanthinker.com. Following are excerpts of the article.

It seems that in our present state of socio-political evolutionary chaos, we are juggling four fairly distinct governance models.

- Representative Democracy: Our traditional governance structure, now undergoing progressively aggressive erosion by leftist forces.
- Socialism: A political and economic theory of social organization which advocates that the means of production, distribution and exchange should be owned or regulated by the community as a whole.
- Marxism: An anti-capitalistic philosophic theory. The proletariat will revolt against the bourgeois, culminating in collective control of the means of production; communism.
- Totalitarianism: An autocracy in which the masses function as owing complete subservience to the state.

Our current trajectory away from a representative democracy is usually referred to as a Marxist takeover. Is that an accurate perspective?

- Marxism focuses on class and the evils of capitalism.
- Matters of racism and gender disparity (at the forefront of our present insurrectionist agenda) were not a primary concern in Marxism.
- Marx would likely be opposed to open immigration, the capitalistic recruitment of cheap labor.

- He would probably be against student debt relief, a perk for the bourgeois.
- He might look upon welfare as a means of subjugation.
- Statism and one-party rule would be tolerated only if it temporarily strengthened the proletariat – not as an entrenched enabler of crony capitalism and supporter of partisan agendas such as Green New Deal projects.
- He would likely support the Second Amendment to facilitate the proletarian revolution.

It would appear that our burgeoning statism, thriving crony capitalism, erosion of our founding principles and assault on free speech are more aligned with a burgeoning autocratic state (an Orwellian dystopia) than with classic Marxism.

Orwellian newspeak, thought and speech control, disinformation, hate week, rewriting of history, Big Brother, government surveillance, compliance, and endless war more closely describe the modus operandi of the present assault on our social structure than does Marxism.

Calling the insurgency Marxism does impart to it a fulfilling pejorative connotation – more so than referring to it as an Orwellian dystopia (or an attempted power grab by vengeful, malcontent, control freaks and their useful idiot followers).

But is it really fair to the Marxist legacy?

Whatever it is labeled, the insurgencies ultimate strength lies in youth indoctrination.

An article by Keach Hagey and Alexa Corse titled “Tucker Carlson Is Creating a New Media Company” was posted at wsj.com on July 14, 2023. Following are excerpts of the article.

Former Fox News host Tucker Carlson and former White House adviser Neil Patel are seeking to raise funds to start a new media company that would potentially use Twitter as its backbone, according to people familiar with the matter. (Carlson and Patel were roommates at Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut, from which they graduated in 1991. In 2010, they teamed up to found the conservative Daily Caller news site, which Patel still controls.)

The new company would be anchored by longer versions of the free videos that Carlson has been posting regularly on Twitter since shortly after his departure from Fox News – but would ultimately be driven by subscriptions.

Carlson and Patel are looking to raise hundreds of millions of dollars to fund the company. Users of Twitter and other platforms would still be able to watch free, shorter versions of his show, interviews and documentaries, but would need to subscribe to watch them in their entirety, the people said. The company would eventually add shows from additional hosts.

An article by Tim Hinchliffe titled “How the World Economic Forum Response to ‘Climate Change’ Is Virtually the Same as Their Covid Approach” was posted at lifesitenews.com on July 13, 2023. Following are excerpts of the article.

The World Economic Forum’s (WEF) carrot or stick approach to climate policies is virtually the same as it was for Covid.

From Covid contact tracing and vaccine passports to carbon footprint tracking and measuring, the end goal is practically identical – to develop the technological foundation to track and trace every person and object on the planet in order to incentivize, coerce, or otherwise manipulate individual human behavior.

WEF founder Klaus Schwab predicted this in his 2017 book “The Fourth Industrial Revolution.”

He wrote: “Any package, pallet or container can now be equipped with a sensor, transmitter or radio frequency identification (RFID) tag that allows a company to track where it is as it moves through the supply chain – how it is performing, how it is being used, and so on.”

He added: “In the near future, similar monitoring systems will also be applied to the movement and tracking of people.”

For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts.
