An article by Star Parker titled “What’s Going On With Black and Hispanic Women?” was posted at creators.com on Dec. 11, 2024. Following are excerpts of the article.

One question emerging from the presidential election exit polls is the disconnect between Black men and women and Hispanic men and women.

- Donald Trump received support from 21% of Black men and 7% of Black women – a disparity of 14 points.
- He got support from 54% of Hispanic men and 39% of Hispanic Women – a disparity of 15 points.
- The disparity in Trump’s support among white men and women was much smaller – 7 points.

So why did Trump have greater success among men than women?

It is clear that the major issue that drove the vote in this election was the economy.

Since the entrepreneurial aspirations of Black and Hispanic women are among the highest in the country, I think these entrepreneurial-driven women should care a lot about a healthy and growing national economy.

I would urge these women to listen to a recent interview done with one the country’s greatest entrepreneurs (Jeff Bezos, founder of Amazon) done at the New York Times DealBook Summit.

Bezos has never been known as a conservative or among the backers of President-elect Donald Trump. He owns The Washington Post, which is a left-of-center paper.

However, in this interview, Bezos speaks positively about the election of Trump and specifically talks about the importance of deregulation to improving the economy . . . He also observes that our country “has the best risk capital system in the world . . . You can raise $50 million of seed capital to do something that only has a 10% chance of working.”

Bezos emphasizes that the way out of our economic problems is economic growth. And here he emphasizes the importance of deregulation and gives a vote of confidence to Trump.

Certainly, Black and Hispanic men are getting thee message. It’s time for Black and Hispanic women to get it and start focusing less on identity politics and more on what experience tells us will work.

Isaiah 55:6-11—“Seek you the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy on him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. ‘For My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways My ways,’ says the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts

For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall My word by that goes forth from My mouth; it shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.”
