Luke 21:34-36—“But take heed to yourselves, lest your souls be weighed down with self-indulgence, and drunkenness, or the anxieties of this life, and that day come on you suddenly, like a falling trap; for it will come on all dwellers on the face of the whole earth. But beware of slumbering; and every moment pray that you may be fully strengthened to escape from all these coming evils, and to take your stand in the presence of the Son of Man” (Weymouth New Testament).

An article by Kevin O’Leary titled “China Has Fired the First Shot in the A.I. Wars – This Is My Urgent Warning to Every American With a Smart-Phone” was posted at dailymail.co.uk on Jan. 29, 2025. Following is the article.

The Artificial Intelligence wars have begun. China fired the first shot.

On Monday, $1 trillion in stock market value was wiped off the books of American tech companies after Chinese startup DeepSeek created an A.I.-tool that rivals the best that U.S. firms have to offer – and at a fraction of the cost.

DeepSeek claims its engineers trained their A.I.-model with $6 million worth of computer chips, while leading A.I.-competitor (OpenAI) spent an estimated $3 billion training and developing its models in 2024 alone.

What's more, DeepSeek says they accomplished this feat with relatively dated technology. (U.S. sanctions deny the Chinese the world's most advanced chip tech.)

That news land on Wall Street like a ton of bricks. This is the first time that China has beaten the U.S. to a major A.I. discovery.

It was nothing short of 'A.I.'s Sputnik moment,' according to Marc Andreessen – one of the foremost tech investors in the world. (Sputnik is a reference to October 4, 1957, when the Soviet Union beat the U.S. to launch the first satellite into space.)

More than six decades ago, the American public was shocked that an adversarial nation had leapfrogged the U.S. in the space race. Many were terrified by the thought that the Soviet Union (a communist regime with designs on global domination) would seize control of the skies above their heads.

So, is now a time to panic?

No. By Tuesday, U.S. technology markets were already clawing back some of the losses from yesterday's rout, as questions were raised over the veracity of DeepSeek's claims.

I suspect that DeepSeek somehow managed to evade U.S. sanctions and obtain the most advanced computer chips. If that's the case, then their progress is much more understandable.

However, America cannot ignore the threat of Chinese A.I. dominance.

In this day and age, artificial intelligence translates to military supremacy. Whoever commands the best A.I. will win wars in the future.

Right now, China may well come out on top. On Wednesday, the Chinese tech and e-commerce giant Alibaba released its A.I.-model and claimed its computing power surpassed even DeepSeek.

A.I. can be used to power autonomous weapon systems, command fleets of drones and detect, track, and engage enemy threats in real time. If China is able to create more intelligent, faster and cheaper A.I. models than the U.S., they can use that to develop more effective weapons, too.

DeepSeek also poses an immediate national security risk to America.

On Monday it was the top download on Apple's store (shooting past OpenAI's ChatGPT) as thousands of Americans loaded it onto their phones.

The American people have to be on their guard. If you download the app, you better ask who's watching and who's listening. From what I can tell, it scrapes your emails and personal data.

I would always recommend using American products rather than their Chinese equivalents. But if I ever did use DeepSeek, I'd download it onto the same burner phone that I use for Chinese-owned TikTok.

Make no mistake, America is in a technological arms race with China – as it was with the Soviets decades ago. And it is past time to focus America's incredible economic, creative and industrial strength on winning the A.I. war.

I believe that the U.S. (under the leadership of President Donald Trump) is well positioned to win in this sphere if it continues to invest in A.I.

Of course, I also have a financial dog in this fight. Beyond my deep loyalty to America, my home country (Canada) and the West, I am an investor in a $70 billion project to build A.I. data centers (which provide the energy and infrastructure to build A.I. models) in Alberta, Canada.

Just last week, Trump announced the new “Stargate Project” under which top American A.I. companies will pour $500 billion of investment into developing data centers and other A.I. infrastructure in the U.S. by 2029.

President Trump also has the power to fight back against Chinese tech using tariffs.

America is also the world's largest buyer of A.I. technology. And if President Trump imposes tariffs on Chinese A.I. products, he may be able to price them out of the market.

As long as America recognizes DeepSeek for the threat that it is, there is no need to panic. Instead – just like with Sputnik, America must seize this challenge to innovate and regain A.I. supremacy once again.

An article by Reagan Reese titled “Press Secretary Karoline Leavitt Announces Shake Up to White House Briefing Room” was posted at dailycaller.com on Jan. 28, 2025. Following are excerpts of the article.

White House press secretary Karoline Leavitt announced a few changes to the White House press corps Tuesday during her first briefing at the lectern. The new press secretary mentioned that the briefing room would have more independent media. She unveiled a new addition to the White House briefing room Tuesday, explaining that seats in the area typically reserved for staff will be given to outlets who do not officially hold a place in the room.

Leavitt explained: “The Trump White House will speak to all media outlets and personalities, not just the legacy media who are seated in this room. Because, according to recent polling from Gallup, America's trust in mass media has fallen to a record low.”

She continued: “Starting today, this seat in the front of the room which is usually occupied by the press secretary’s staff, will be called the new media seat. My team will review the applications and give credentials to new media outlets that meet our criteria and pass United States Secret Service requirements to enter the White House complex.”

Seated in the seats at the first briefing were reporters from Axios and Breitbart. Leavitt kicked off the briefing by calling on the “new media” seats.

Press secretaries typically call on a reporter from The Associated Press, who usually sits in the center of the front row, to start the briefings.

Leavitt also added that their press team would be restoring the press passes of the “over 440 journalists whose press passes were wrongly revoked by the previous administration.”

The press secretary encouraged podcasters, social media influencers and other independent media voices to apply for a White House press pass to cover the administration. “New Media” is encouraged to apply at the new White House website to handle such requests. During the briefing, the press secretary spanned the room, taking questions from journalists standing beyond the front rows in the briefing room and in the “new media” seats.

An article by Christopher Spata titled “Former Special Forces Soldier From Florida Among ‘January 6ers’ Still in Jail After Pardon” was posted at americanmilitarynews.com on Jan. 29, 2025. Following are excerpts of the article.

Retired U.S. Army Special Forces master sergeant Jeremy Brown remains in jail while his attorney advocates for his release under President Donald Trump’s pardon for January 6 crimes.

Brown, a Tampa resident sentenced to seven years on weapons charges, is among a handful of still-incarcerated convicts who are most associated with the 2021 U.S. Capitol riot – but who were charged with other crimes outside of Washington D.C.

The argument being made for Brown’s release: His other crimes came to light only through the course of January 6 investigations.

Brown was charged with two misdemeanors for attending the January 6 riot, where he was photographed in a helmet and military gear. Those charges, court records show, were dropped shortly after the president’s pardon.

A jury in 2022 convicted Brown on charges of possessing an unregistered sawed-off shotgun, a short-barrelled rifle, fragmentation grenades and a classified military document. Federal agents said they found them on his Florida property while serving a search warrant related to January 6 and his ties to the Oath Keepers – a militaristic extremist group that entered the Capitol.

Other individuals remain in jail due to various weapons charges discovered due to investigations surrounding January 6.

Isaiah 55:6-11–“Seek you the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near.

Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy on him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. 'For My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways My ways,' says the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall My word by that goes forth from My mouth; it shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it."
